Earth Hour

UNEC joined the "Earth Hour" campaign. Lights were turned off for one hour in the university's academic buildings.

Every year, on the last Saturday of March, in various countries around the world, an international campaign is held under the initiative of the World Wide Fund for Nature (WWF), during which all non-essential electrical appliances are turned off for one hour. The purpose of the campaign is to draw attention to global climate change, engage people in global solidarity in the fight against climate change, promote energy conservation, and encourage protection of the environment and the planet.
